Firstly, you need to complete the assessment session, which will take up to two hours.

During the assessments it is important that you try and work as hard as possible, so please turn your phone off and ensure that you are in a quiet environment, free from interruptions or distractions.

People might want to help you with your answers, but that really won't be helpful in the long term as we are trying to help find a career direction and route that suits you personally.

Please do not attempt the assessments on your phone, the screen is too small and you will not be able to perform at your best. Use a PC, tablet or iPad. You don't need a calculator.

Some of the assessments are timed, however before each assessment begins, you will be able to take whatever time you need to read instructions and try some practice questions.

The instructions will tell you how long you have for each assessment. You are not expected to finish all the questions in an assessment during the time allowed.

If there is a problem, such as a loss of internet, or you need to pause the session, then close the browser, and when you are ready to restart, you will be able to login and start without losing any of your previous work.

Once you have completed the assessments you will be guided through your results. If you cannot access your results straight away, it may be that the settings on your schools account does not allow the results to be viewed until released by the school. If your results are available, you will be presented with career suggestions to explore as well as appropriate study routes. The site is highly interactive so you can explore many 'what-if' scenarios, re-complete questionnaires and plan your future.
